About St. Andrew's School (Secondary) Concert Band

The St. Andrew's School (Secondary) Concert Band in Singapore is part of a long-standing tradition of music and performance at one of the country's oldest schools. The school, which was founded in 1862, has nurtured generations of musicians, and over the decades its band programme has grown into a well-established ensemble within the school's co-curricular arts scene.

Known historically as the Saint Andrew's School Military Band, the ensemble evolved from its brass band roots and was formally renamed in the late 20th century, marking its development into a full concert band capable of both ceremonial and concert repertoire. The band has been active in high-profile public performances, including invitations to play at venues like the Istana and participation in concert events beyond the school campus.

Over the years, the band has nurtured a strong musical culture among its members, balancing rigorous rehearsals with opportunities to build teamwork, leadership, and performance confidence. Alumni and school communities often recall the band as a formative part of student life, fostering lifelong friendships and musical growth.
