

The champak tree, known scientifically as the magnolia champaca, is a tree from India that is also commonly found in countries like Myanmar, Thailand, Singapore, Malaysia and Vietnam.

The tree has long, dark green leaves and is well-known for its fragrant flowers which come in a variety of colours, like white, yellow and orange.

The tree also bears fruit, which are bright green, with red and pink seeds on the inside.

Colour in the different parts of the champak tree in this worksheet, then scan the QR code below to find out more about Myanmar!

